COURSE DESCRIPTION

EEE401 is a group design project. Apart from courses that have hands-on component integrated as part of the syllabus, EEE 401 is the second core course in the undergraduate curriculum of the Department that introduces students to hands-on experience. The course gives the students an interesting opportunity to participate in teamwork and, also, apply engineering design principles to solve a real world problem. Each team is expected to work towards developing a product from a given set of specifications. At this level, there must be an added emphasis on innovation, marketability and fitness for purpose of developed solutions or products.

Pre-requisites

The prerequisite for taking this course is Group Design I (EEE 307).

DELIVERY: HOW THE COURSE WILL BE TAUGHT

Group Work

You are expected to work in small groups and meet with your group coordinators on regular basis. List of different student groups and their coordinators is on Page 5 of this course pack. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic and restrictions/rules put in place by the University, you are expected to interact with your group coordinators to agree on mode of group meetings and platform/medium.

Assessment: How The Course Will Be Graded

Group work – 60 marks

You will be assessed by the group coordinators based on individual contribution to the project, marketability of the project, creativity and innovation in the group project and report presentation.

Final Project Defense – 40 marks

The final project defense will be conducted at a university-stipulated date and medium. You will be assessed by the departmental seminar panel based on your group project presentation, state of project and response to questions, amongst other things.

GENERAL INFORMATION/POLICY

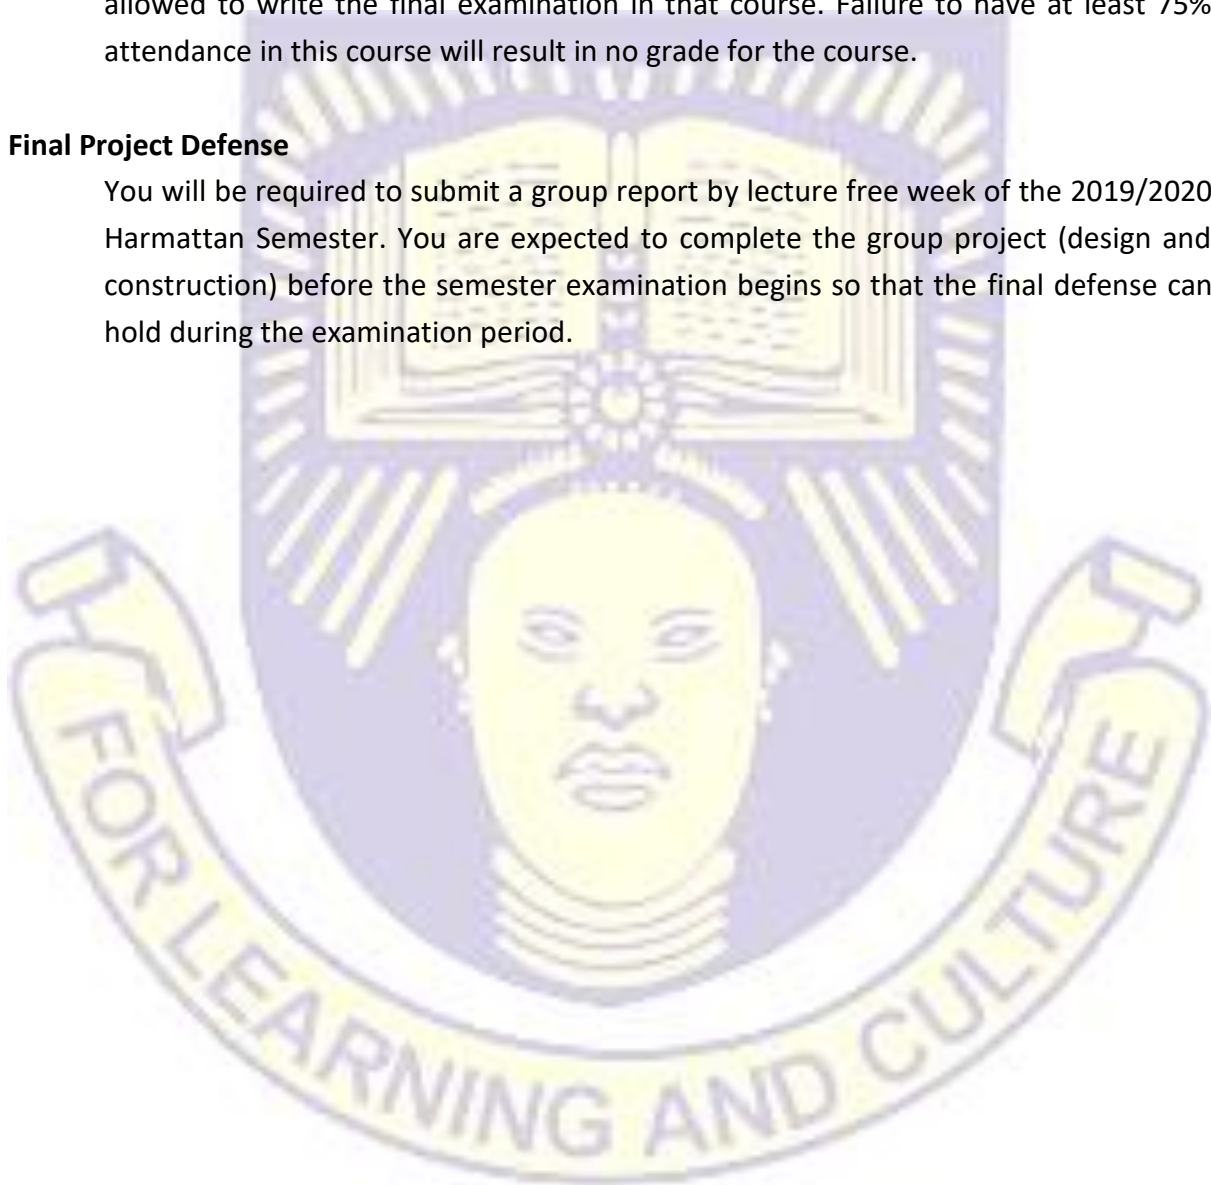

Please note the following important guidelines about this course.

Attendance

Attendance at group meetings with group coordinators and regular group meetings with other team members is compulsory. The university regulation stipulates that anyone who attends less than 75% of all lectures for that semester should not be allowed to write the final examination in that course. Failure to have at least 75% attendance in this course will result in no grade for the course.

Final Project Defense

You will be required to submit a group report by lecture free week of the 2019/2020 Harmattan Semester. You are expected to complete the group project (design and construction) before the semester examination begins so that the final defense can hold during the examination period.

Please find below the different EEE 401 groups for 2019/2020 Session.
